Teaching, learning and assessment strategies	Throughout the course, you will be involved in a variety of learning activities which are designed to foster the incremental development of your subject knowledge and transferrable skills, whilst at the same time supporting your personal and professional development. Learning activities are structured around lectures, seminars and workshop. The nature and format of the activities will vary from unit to unit, with emphasis being placed upon interactive learning and practice-based activities, such as mooting and debating. The various units, and the course as a whole, are designed in such a way as to enable you, first, to adjust to university-level education, and then to develop towards greater autonomy of learning, independent analysis and critical evaluation. Our course is taught by a team of experienced, professional and committed academics and practitioners. We will work with you to ensure that you maximise your experience at university and that you achieve to the very best of your ability. Our LLB course gives you the opportunity to explore in depth a a broad range of specialised areas of Law, which will allow you to stand out from other Law graduates when applying for work experience opportunities or your first job in the legal sector. Optional units cover many of the areas which you are most likely to encounter in your initial practice, including Wills and Probate, Conveyancing, Family and Child Law, Immigration and Asylum Law, Employment Law, but also highly specialised areas such as Aviation Law, Intellectual Property Law and International Human Rights Law. You will be asked to make your choice of optional units before the end of the previous academic year. Please note that, if there is an insufficient number of students interested in a particular optional unit, or there are staffing changes which affect the delivery of the unit, the unit may not be offered. Should one of your chosen optional units not run the following year, we will advise you at the end of the option selection period and help you choose an alternative unit.
Learning support	The University s comprehensive student support service includes: Student Information Desk, a one-stop shop for any initial enquiries; Student Support team advising and supporting those with physical or learning needs or more general student well being; Study Hub team providing academic skills guidance; Personal Academic Tutoring system and support from your lecturers.
